Just like our Mason Jar Mavens, the reCAP team is a mix of Mason jar enthusiasts. Karen, reCAP inventor, strives for zero waste, Laura takes snacks on-thego for her little one, Nicole shows off her crafty and clever ideas, and Carlo shakes it up in the kitchen. But we all have something in common - memories from childhood catching fireflies in Mason jars. All of us remember a time when we weren't so connected to technology - and we want to inspire the children of today to get out, step away from the screen, and explore all of nature's wonders.

Competing with video games, hashtags, and selfies, the traditions of yesterday do not need to be discarded along with your VHS tapes and Polaroid cameras. After an afternoon of adventure, catching, observing, and releasing critters, the vast and informative internet is a resource for explorers to validate their findings. By better understanding the world and connecting to nature, children in today's world will be more likely to respect and preserve our natural resources so that future generations will have a chance to experience first-hand the detail of a grasshopper's anatomy, the beauty of a butterfly's wings, and the magic of a firefly lighting up the summer night.
